

EMIT³

Emergency Medicine in the Tropics

30 April-13 May 2018 in Kigali, Rwanda

Join us for EMIT³, an incredible opportunity for EM and other acute-care trainees from overseas to learn from local and international faculty in a busy tropical emergency department in Kigali, Rwanda.

This packed two-week course covers a diversity of topics relevant to anyone interested in global health and developing emergency care in resource-constrained settings.

Sessions incorporate a heavy focus on clinical exposure with lectures and workshops focused on trauma, critical care, pediatrics, disaster response, and lots of ultrasound practice with guaranteed Core Ultrasound Course (RCEM). The course is based in the very busy Emergency Department at CHUK, Rwanda's tertiary referral hospital.

EMIT³ includes a visit to a district hospital ED, plus time to explore the beautiful Land of 1000 Hills (and perhaps even see gorillas)!

Attend both weeks for just US$ 750 or GBP 550 or join us for one week for US$ 400 or 300GBP.

Discount of US$ 50 or GBP 50 for payments made in full before 30 March 2018.
